What will my water and/or sewer service cost per month?

Most customers want to know how much a water and/or sewer bill is likely to be per month. In an effort to promote efficient water use we have adopted Conservation Block Rates. This Means that the more water you use, the higher the billing rate. You may view current rates on our website at: <https://acwwa.com/DocumentCenter/Home/View/155>. Residential and commercial water and sewer rates can be found in section 2 of Appendix A.

Billing Statements

Your bills are mailed monthly and are issued approximately the same time each month, although dates do vary slightly since we do not bill on weekends or holidays. If at any time you do not receive your bill, you can call us at 303-790-4830 and request a duplicate.

How do I pay my bill?

What if I have a high bill?

We understand that from time to time a substantial increase in the volume of water may cause a high water bill. If this occurs due to a water leak or other uncontrollable circumstance, please contact our Customer Service Department and ask them to explain ACWWA's Uncontrollable Water Usage Policy. You may be eligible for a credit towards your bill.

Where does our water come from?

ACWWA utilizes several sources for drinking water – Shallow alluvial wells along Cherry Creek, deep groundwater wells, and the ACWWA Flow.

The ACWWA Flow Project is a water supply project which will service the ACWWA service area and upon completion will result in an annual average delivery of 4,400 acre-feet of renewable water to the ACWWA service area. This new water will supplement current water supplies, providing a secure and high quality water source for current and future ACWWA customers.

We have a question about our water quality. Who can we contact?

Here at ACWWA, we work around the clock to provide top quality water to every tap. ACWWA utilizes ground water for a portion of its drinking water supplies. Ground water comes from shallow (alluvial) and deep aquifer wells. Certain characteristics which are common and are associated with ground water sources that can lead to issues with taste and hardness. Ground water contains several natural occurring minerals. These minerals affect the aesthetic (not a health concern) quality of water. These minerals can affect the color, odor and clarity of the drinking water.

We are committed to ensuring that the quality of your drinking water is in compliance with government standards and we are please to report that your water meets or exceeds all primary and secondary standards set for safety. The drinking water that ACWWA provides had been tested and continues to be routinely tested for compliance with all drinking water regulations.

Each year we publish an annual water quality report. You may contact our office at 303-790-4830 for the latest edition. If you have an immediate water quality problem, please contact us so that the problem can be investigated, (303) 790-4830, ext. 376.

For more information on water quality, visit our website at <https://acwwa.com/2205/Water-Quality>.

Water Efficiency

ACWWA has developed a water efficiency program to provide our customers with the tools they can use to reduce their water use. Reducing water use can translate into healthier landscapes, less impact in the environment and best of all, reduced water bills.

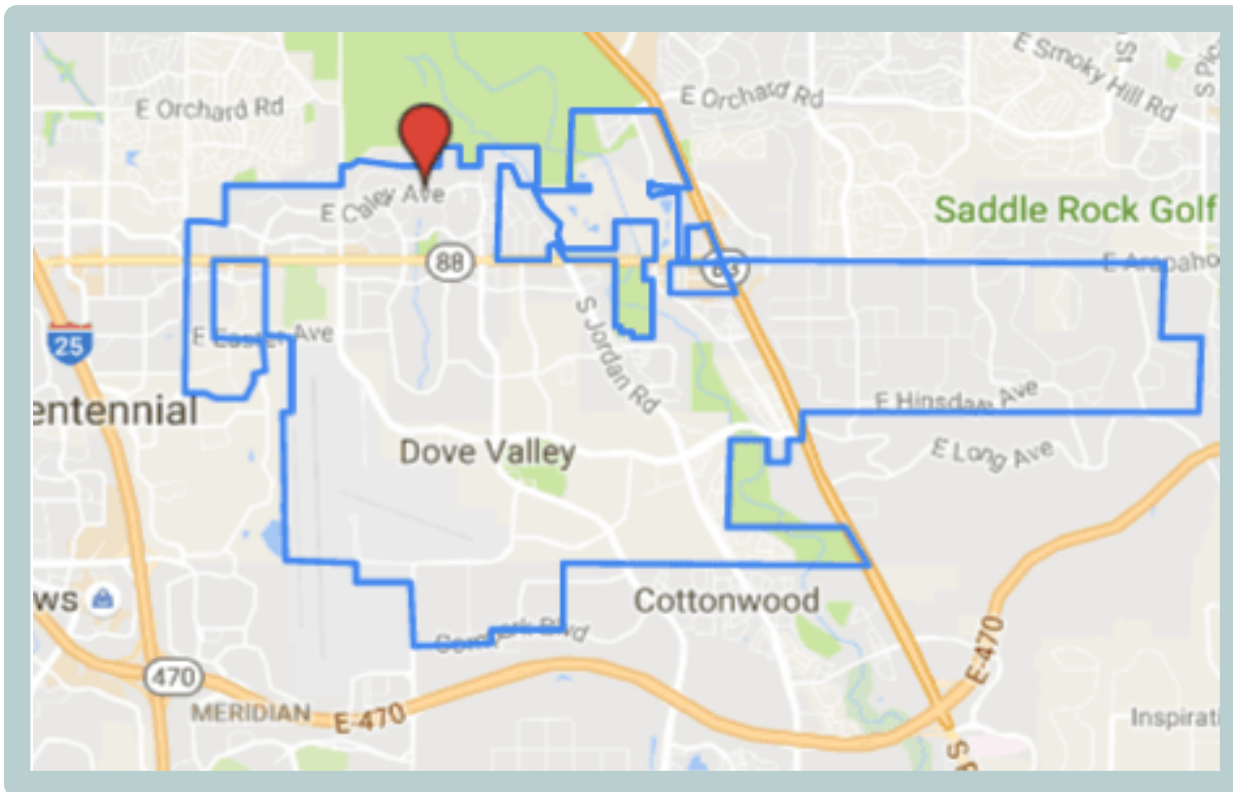

Because Colorado weather can vary drastically year to year, ACWWA staff continuously evaluates our system and potential water supplies. Water efficiency may be implemented in the spring and summer months. For more information, look for our tab Water Efficiency on ACWWA's website. Information will also be included in your ACWWA utility bill.

What is Reuse or Reclaimed water?

Reclaimed water, sometimes called reuse water, comes from wastewater treatment plans where it has undergone treatment and purifying. This water is reused for landscape irrigation. Extensive treatment and disinfections ensure that public health and the environment are protected. ACWWA's reclaimed water meets or exceeds the Colorado Department of Public Health and Environment requirements. Due to capacity and distribution piping, this irrigation source is limited to a small portion of ACWWA's customers.
